The Students Commission of Canada presents:

Ipseity noun. The quality of being oneself or itself; the essential element of identity.

Come see how young artists, storytellers, dancers and videographers from Victoria, Saskatoon, Toronto and Miramichi have explored their identity and the pressures of today's world, taking a stand against stereotypes that lead to gender-based violence. Stop the stereotype. Stop the abuse.

This National Artistic Showcase, drop-in style, is raising funds for young artists and projects run by The Students Commission of Canada, a national charitable organization that engages youth to explore and express themselves, then take action for positive social change. Share our story; share your story; see the evidence for programs that make a difference. Stop the stereotype. Stop the abuse.
